TEXT 4 – WHY AN AMERICAN WENT TO CUBA FOR CANCER CARE

Cuba has faced more than 50 years of US sanctions. Now, for the first time, a unique drug developed on the communist island is being tested in New York state. But _____(1) American cancer patients are already taking it - by defying the embargo and flying to Havana for treatment.

Judy Ingels and her family are in Cuba _____(2) just six days. They have time to go sightseeing and try out the local cuisine. Judy, a keen photographer, enjoys capturing the colonial architecture of Old Havana. And _____(3) she is in the country, Ingels, 74, will have her first injections of Cimavax, a drug shown in Cuban trials to extend the lives of lung cancer patients by months, and sometimes years.

By _____(4) to Havana from her home in California, she is breaking the law. The US embargo against Cuba has been in place for more than five decades, and though relations thawed under President Obama, seeking medical treatment in Cuba is still not _____(5) for US citizens. "I'm not worried," Ingels says. "For the first time I have real hope." She has stage four lung cancer and _____(6) diagnosed in December 2015. "My oncologist in the United States says I'm his best patient, but I have this deadly disease."

He does not know she is in Cuba. When she asked him about Cimavax, he had not heard of it. "But we've _____(7) a lot of research - I've read good things," Ingels says. Since January, Cimavax has _____(8) tested on patients in Buffalo, New York state, but it isn't yet available in the US. Ingels, her husband Bill and daughter Cindy are staying at the La Pradera International Health Centre, west of Havana. It treats mostly foreign, paying patients like Ingels, and with its pool complex, palm trees and open walkways, La Pradera feels _____(8) like a tropical hotel than a hospital.

This trip from their home in California, together with a supply of Cimavax to take back to the US, will cost the Ingels family more than $15,000 (£12,000). Cimavax fights cancer by stimulating an immune response against a protein in the blood that triggers the growth of lung cancer. _____(10) an induction period, patients receive a monthly dose by injection. It's a product of Cuba's biotechnology industry, nurtured by former President Fidel Castro since the early 1980s.

TEXT 5 – NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

THOSE NEW YEAR’S RESOLUTIONS...EASY TO MAKE, BUT HARD TO KEEP

Do you make New Year’s Resolutions? Well, The New Year’s almost here, so it’s time to decide how we can improve our lives. The number one resolution is losing weight, but how can we do it? Let’s 1) ____ the obvious and painful option of dieting; instead we’ll listen to overweight US comedian Jay Leno. He says: “Our target is to be average, right? So, there are more overweight people in America 2) ____ medium-weight people. That means overweight people are now average, so they 3) ____ be of average weight...I 4) ____ feel thin!”. The US government is, 5) ____, seriously worried about its citizens weight. Its internet guidelines suggest: “Pay attention to serving sizes. Often what we consider one serving is really two or more!”. Are they suggesting we should eat less?.

Next we have 6) ____ fit-that should be simple. The easy solution is to sign 7) ____ at a gym, pay a year’s subscription and forget all about it. Gym clubs in America have some ‘exciting’ new alternatives to get people actually inside their clubs. Girls 8) ____ like a session of Stiletto Strength: that’s 30 minutes of stretching, then put 9) ____those frightening stiletto heels and start high stepping. If that sounds too dangerous, then try Karaoke Spinning. That’s people on indoor cycles pedalling as fast 10) ____they can, while singing songs 11) ____the top of their voices. An exhilarating experience, apparently.

The third favourite resolution is 12) ____money. The best answer? Buy something really expensive-like a house or a car- then you’re obliged to pay the monthly instalments. That’s saving, isn’t it? Resolutions are usually broken in the first week. You should 13) ____easy targets, of course; don’t tell anyone about your resolution and never ever record your progress. Finally, 14) ____ you can’t resist just one more cigarette, or that wonderful box of chocolates...just give up. Don’t think of it as a momentary lapse, it’s the perfect excuse to return 15) ____those wonderful old habits.

Nine years later, the thirteen-year-old Roger was on the same beach when he saw a man fall overboard. Roger saved his life. The man turned _____ (3) to be Alice Blaise's husband.

_____ (4) of the most incredible travel stories, it seems, _____ (5) about a pet. In August 1923 the Brazier family holidaying in Indiana, lost their dog, Bobbie, and had to return home to Oregon, 3.000 miles away, without him. Unbelievably, Bobbie travelled across ici rivers, climbed the Rocky Mountains and, six months later, arrived back home in Oregon.

Or more recently, Charlie, a cat _____ (6) decided to take a nap inside the engine of his neighbour's car and ended _____ (7) being driven 160 miles away. Luckily for him, he was completely unhurt.

What about the things people lose and find when they are travelling? Rings are top of the list. In Hawaii, Ken Da Vico, who is a professional diver, claims to find about fifteen wedding rings a year in the sea. He returns many of them to their owners. Even if a fish eats the ring, there is _____ (8) hope. There are _____ (9) cases of rings _____ (10) found years later inside the stomachs of sharks, mussels and other kind of fish. Less common is when the loser finds the lost ring, as happened when Karen Goode went to a beach in Wales and found a ring she had lost there ten years before.

Dismantling of mausoleum timed for 80th anniversary of bombing of town in Spain’s north.

At the request of the German Embassy in Madrid, Madrid City Hall _____(1) removed an inscription in the city’s largest cemetery commemorating German aviators who supported coup leader General Francisco Franco during the Spanish Civil War.

The decision, taken _____(2) Wednesday, comes during a week-long series of events to mark the 80th anniversary of the bombing of the Basque city of Guernica, in _____(3) Nazi Germany’s Luftwaffe, or air force, played a key role.

Until just a few days _____(4), a piece of the façade of a mausoleum in Madrid’s Almudena cemetery – one _____(5) the largest in Europe – honoring the Condor legion, made up of air force and army units, remained in place. Seven pilots are buried there.

The façade has now _____(6) removed, leaving only the names of the pilots and their graves. Written _____(7) Spanish and German, the inscription read: “Here rest German pilots who fell in the fight for a free Spain. German aviators _____(8) died for God and for Spain. Present!” The Condor Legion developed methods of terror bombing later used in World War II. As _____(9) as Guernica, German planes bombed Bilbao and took part in other operations in Spain, including the battle for Madrid.

The German embassy had expressly requested the removal of the inscription, although Madrid City Hall has recently begun taking down the last remaining street signs and other vestiges of the Franco regime, which ended _____(10) 1975.

TEXT 13 – LAWYERS

There are hundreds of thousands of lawyers in America. And, every year, hundreds of American law schools produce thousands of new ones. Some of America's most famous personalities _____(1) Bill Clinton and Richard Nixon have been lawyers. However, lawyers are also some of the most detested people in the country. Let's take a look at America's love/hate relationship with lawyers.

Getting Divorced?

These days, it seems that you can't do anything without a lawyer. Renting a house? Talk to a real estate agent. The IRS wants to speak with you about your company's taxes? Get yourself a tax lawyer. Getting divorced? Hire the most ruthless lawyer you can find. And the list goes on.

Yellow Pages

In America, if someone gets you angry, you don't sit down with the person to discuss it, you call a lawyer and sue them. People sue for all sorts of reasons, including trivial matters such as suing a neighbor for running over your cat, and more serious matters _____(2) job discrimination. A lawsuit works in the following manner: the plaintiff (the one who sues) becomes furious with someone and hires a lawyer to sue the other person in court. The defendant (the person being sued) opens the Yellow Pages, finds a lawyer with a nice advertisement and prepares his defence against the charges.

Donuts & Coffee

When the trial begins, the two lawyers argue their cases in front of a judge and jury. They use all of their skills of persuasion to convince the jury that their client _____(3) win. Once all the evidence has been presented, the jury goes to a small room, eats donuts, drinks coffee, talks about the baseball game from the night before and the decides who _____(4) to win the case. In an ideal world, the side with the strongest case should _____(5). Unfortunately, this is not always how it works out and it is often the side that can afford the more expensive lawyer that wins the trial – capitalism at its best!

Lawyers Behaving Badly

The most hated lawyers are ambulance chasers. Imagine this scene. You are riding your bicycle down a quiet street, singing your favourite song, watching the birds fly across the sky and then... whack!, you're hit by a huge Cadillac driven by an 85-year-old retired dentist with bad eyesight. You lie on the ground, barely conscious, wondering whether you will live or die. Finally, the police and two medics arrive and place your body on a stretcher and _____(6) you to the ambulance.

A Million Dollars

Suddenly, a middle-aged man, wearing a cheap suit and even cheaper cologne appears _____(7) you and gives you a business card. "My name is Lawrence Scheister. If you want to sue the guy who did this to you, just give me a call!" As you're loaded _____(8) the ambulance and the doors are closed, the lawyer presses his fat face against the window and says, "I can _____(9) you a million dollars out of your injuries, just give me a call!" While the ambulance speeds away, you see the lawyer running behind yelling, "It's the opportunity of a lifetime, just give me a call!" In fact, if you ever happen to be at he scene of an accident in America, don't be surprised if you see some "ambulance chasers" appear _____(10) the shadows handing out business cards to the victims.

TEXT 14 – MOVING TO A NEW COUNTRY

Moving to a new country is tough, especially when you are 17. There _____(1) so many new things to learn and get used to! I'm Ricardo and I moved to Los Angeles from Juarez, Mexico, a year ago. I live with my Aunt and her family. They are very nice to me but I miss my parents and sister back home. They say that Juarez is one of the most dangerous cities in the world. I don't think it is as bad at all. I think bad things happen everywhere, but most people there are very nice. Plus, the food is delicious. Sometimes I wish I could go back.

Adjusting to life in the United States is hard. I am _____(2) my last year of High School and it hasn't been easy. The language is the _____(3) part. I had 10 years of English in school in Mexico and my parents sent me _____(4) private classes as well. Even with all the English I studied in Mexico, I find it very hard to understand the other kids at school. They talk really fast and use _____(5) of slang. Most of them don't bother to talk to me as they already have their own group of friends.

It is very difficult to make new friends in your last year of High School. I usually eat lunch alone and after school, I watch TV with my Aunt and her family. It gets _____(6) sometimes but I don't have a choice.

Recently, I made a new friend in my Physics class. His name is Jan. His family immigrated to the United States from Poland 10 years ago. He often invites me to his house to work on our Physics homework. He usually copies the homework from me because he doesn't want to read the book or pay attention in class. He talks about football all the time. It doesn't matter how many times I tell him _____(7) I like soccer, not football, he keeps _____(8) about every game he watches on TV.

I would stop _____(9) to his house but his sister Klaudia is the most beautiful girl I have ever seen. I keep going to his house hoping that I can talk to her but she barely notices me. She is in college and is studying to be a lawyer. She is very smart and doesn't have a boyfriend. I watch every TV show about lawyers so that if she ever does talk to me I _____(10) sound smart. Maybe then she would go on a date with me.
